Passì is a practical electric vegetable mill that can be operated with a simple button and allows you to prepare, effortlessly and quickly, tasty and digestible vegetable soups, but not only. The electric vegetable mill, in fact, is the only appliance capable of separating the peels and seeds from the pulp of fruit and vegetables, without adding air to pureed foods, which is why it is ideal for homemade jams, tomato sauces and purées. Unlike blenders and food processors, in fact, the slow rotation, with an alternating rotary movement, allows you to filter the food as much as possible, allowing you to obtain only the finest pulp. For this reason, the "passatutto" is an indispensable appliance in the weaning of younger children, but also for all those who have digestive problems. Passì is a light and small-sized vegetable mill, but at the same time resistant to both shocks and heat, it adapts to the size of any container and is easily disassembled. The stainless steel accessories (shovel and 3 discs with small, medium and large holes) are also dishwasher safe.
